

NIDA Diversity Scholars Travel Award Program

National Institute on Drug Abuse, Office of Diversity and Health Disparities

The National Institute on Drug Abuse (NIDA), Office of Diversity and Health Disparities (ODHD) is accepting applications for the NIDA Diversity Scholars Travel Award Program to help defray the costs of attending national scientific conferences.

The NIDA, ODHD will provide travel awards to the following 2022 scientific conferences:

- The College on Problems of Drug Dependence (CPDD) on June 11th – 15th, 2022 in Minneapolis, MN
- The American Psychological Association (APA) on August 4th – 6th, 2022 in Minneapolis, MN
- The National Hispanic Science Network International Conference (NHSN) on September 28th – 30th, 2022 in Grand Rapids, MI
- The Annual Society for Neuroscience (SfN) Meeting on November 12th – 16th, 2022 in San Diego, CA.

The NIDA ODHD anticipates supporting approximately 5-10 awards for each conference in the amount of $1,500 each. Travel awards may be used for the following expenses: round trip travel, lodging, per diem and registration for the meeting. If an awardee chooses to attend the conference virtually (and virtual attendance is an option provided by the scientific society), the NIDA ODHD will provide registration support for the meeting.

Eligibility*:

Graduate and medical students, post-doctoral students, medical residents, and early-stage investigators (who are not more than 10 years past their doctoral degree) conducting substance use and addiction research are eligible to apply. NDSN scholars, Diversity Supplement scholars, NIDA-supported NRSA fellows, NRSA T32 trainees, NIDA R25 trainees, and other NIDA funded trainees from underrepresented backgrounds are highly encouraged to apply. Applicants may apply for one travel award per year.
